

Fundamentals of Clinical Supervision

eLearning Course

35 CPD points

Allied health, nursing and welfare professionals

'Clinical supervision is an integral part of the health professional's ongoing development and maintenance of clinical knowledge and skills'

The course aims to increase confidence and skills in setting up supervision, developing learning goals and establishing a competency based supervision contract. Topics cover how to effectively use feedback and evaluation in supervision and measure the supervision efficacy. Participants will develop a solid understanding of the tasks and responsibilities of supervision and become a competent and reflective supervisor. There are 7 self-paced study modules including videos, reflective learning tasks, practical examples, video demonstrations and online readings.

Who is this course for?

This course is suitable for health and welfare professionals who currently provide or intend to provide clinical supervision. This will include nurses, social workers, occupational therapists, speech pathologists, art therapists, music therapists, clergy and NGO workers.

Content & Duration

- Module 1 - Introduction to Supervision
- Module 2 - Models of Clinical Supervision
- Module 3 - Preparing for Supervision
- Module 4 - Methods & Techniques (including Telehealth delivery)
- Module 5 - Reflective Practice
- Module 6 - Ethical Issues
- Module 7 - Evaluation and Feedback

It is estimated that the course takes 35 hours to complete including readings, viewing podcasts, videos and learning activities across seven modules. It is equivalent to 35 hours continuing professional development.

Learning Outcomes

By completing this course you will:

- Have a sound knowledge of the role of clinical supervision when working as a health or welfare professional
- Recognise the importance of supervision and the benefits for those who receive clinical supervision but also the benefits to clients
- Be aware of the different models of supervision
- Be introduced to the role of the initial supervisor meeting and defining the purpose of supervision with the supervisee
- Recognise the importance of a safe and supportive relationship that underpins a good supervisory experience
- Have knowledge of contract setting in supervision and determining supervisee-learning needs
- Be introduced to various techniques of best practice supervision as well as reflective practice
- Understand the value of effective feedback and evaluation
- Have knowledge of how to set up and manage effective remotely delivered supervision for individuals and groups using Telehealth.

Fees: $325

Further information: info@clinicalsupervisionservices.com.au

Enrolment: www.clinicalsupervisionservices.com.au/online-courses

Clinical Supervision Services

In association with Sydney Family Therapy Training Institute

www.clinicalsupervisionservices.com.au

